The voice of thousands of Australasian healthcare workers across the sector

ASHM is Australasia's peak professional body representing healthcare professionals working in HIV, viral hepatitis, other BBVs, sexual and reproductive health.

We deliver training, develop the resources and guidelines, run the conferences and advocate passionately for the needs of our members and communities.

ASHM is an independent and trusted Public Health Organisation.

Our members are physicians, nurses, researchers, epidemiologists, social workers, pharmacists, and allied health workers – united to eliminate harm from these diseases and to protect our diverse communities.

Join ASHM to help us work towards our vision and mission for the sector

Our Vision

The virtual elimination of HIV, viral hepatitis, other BBVs and the significant reduction of sexually transmissible infections.

Our Mission

To provide leadership within the sector via collaboration, facilitation, direct action, and work force capacity building.

Our work is evidence based, practice centred, outcome focused, and we prioritise monitoring and evaluation in everything we do.

“ASHM has been the glue that has brought so many of us together and always in a unique, special way. Everyone feels very included and proud to be part of ASHM”.

Prof Sharon Lewin,
Infectious Disease Specialist
Director at the Peter Doherty Institute
ASHM Honorary Member

Membership Funded Pacific Triple Elimination Project

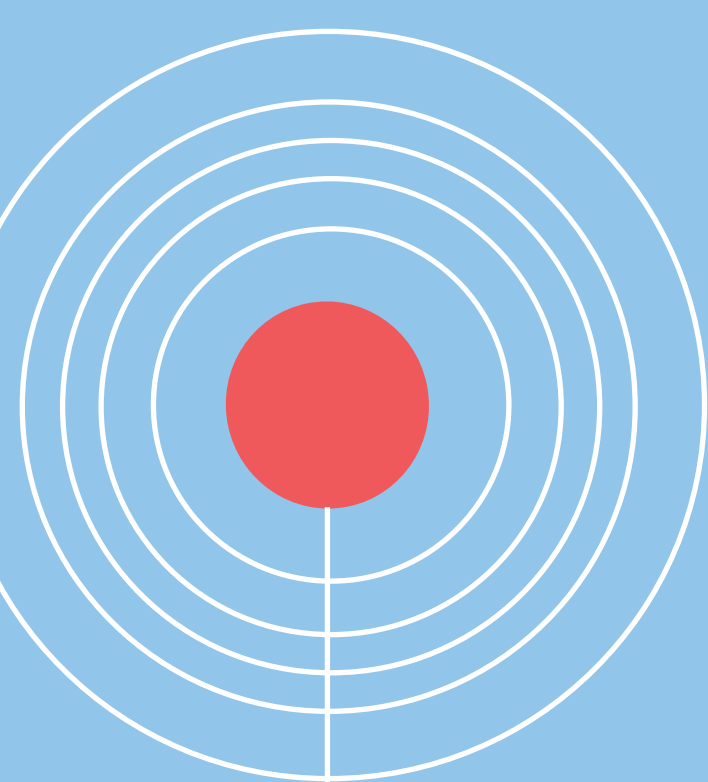

The ASHM Membership Funded Triple Elimination Project aims to reduce mother to child transmission of HIV, viral hepatitis and syphilis in Timor-Leste and Papua New Guinea.

HIV, hepatitis B and syphilis can be transmitted from mothers to their infants in pregnancy, during labour, and via breastfeeding. However, transmission of these infections can be prevented by simple and effective early interventions.

The triple elimination project will work with partners to help strengthen universal testing and treatment in antenatal care for pregnant women and their partners initially in Timor-Leste and Papua New Guinea. While also focusing on stigma reduction within antenatal care and increasing the health literacy of pregnant women and their partners, to improve access to HIV, syphilis and Hepatitis B testing and treatment.

Organisational Sustaining Membership

What is it?

We continue to collaborate with over 60 Organisational Partners via the Organisational Sustaining Membership Program, helping us with advocacy, policy direction, direct action and workforce capacity building. The OSM program draws together a range of professions supporting people living with HIV, viral hepatitis, other BBVs, sexual and reproductive health issues and related diseases.

How does it work?

ASHM Organisational Sustaining Membership (OSM) fee is tailored to the size, nature and scope of an organisation.

Our OSM members have access to our affiliate program, which invites an organisations employee's and/or members to become ASHM affiliate members (at no extra individual cost).

An affiliate member enjoys most of the benefits of ordinary ASHM membership.

Organisational Sustaining Members also enjoy priority placement of any news or information they would like share within the monthly ASHM eNews, as well as free job placement advertisements in our careers bulletin (waiver the $250 fee). Both electronic publications are sent to over 5,000 individual subscribers.

To find out more how your organisation could benefit from an Organisational Sustaining Membership, contact ASHM Membership Services on (02) 8204 0756 or email membership@ashm.org.au

Honorary Life Membership

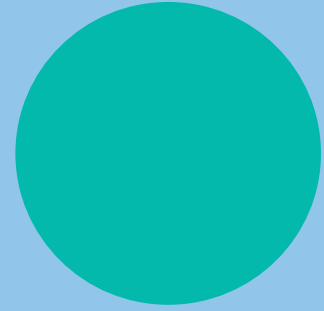

Honorary Life status is the highest membership recognition given by ASHM and carries with it all the rights and privileges of a member, with exemption from payment of the annual membership subscription.

Each year we formally recognise one or two individuals who have made an outstanding contribution to the Australasian, regional or global response to HIV, viral hepatitis, other BBVs and sexually transmitted infections and by doing so have furthered our vision and mission. Our achievements over the last 30 years would not have been made possible without the generosity of time, input, and expertise of our Honorary Life Members.
