

National PrEP Workforce Development Pilot Project

The National PrEP Workforce Development Pilot Project is an exciting initiative aimed at increasing awareness, knowledge, and confidence among clinicians to prescribe HIV pre-exposure prophylaxis (PrEP).

Guided by recommendations from the National HIV Taskforce, this project focuses on addressing identified barriers to prescribing PrEP and building capacity across the health workforce to achieve the goal of eliminating HIV in Australia.

What is PrEP?

PrEP (pre-exposure prophylaxis) is a highly effective biomedical tool that prevents HIV. When taken as prescribed, PrEP can reduce the risk of HIV transmission by up to 99%. Increasing PrEP uptake is a vital step toward eliminating HIV in Australia.

National PrEP Workforce Development Pilot Project

What's Involved?

The pilot project is designed for General Practitioners (GPs), Nurse Practitioners (NPs), and the broader health workforce.

Collaborative Education Initiatives

In partnership with RACGP, APNA, and PHNs, this pilot will develop and deliver national training and education sessions for clinicians.

Supporting GP Practices

GP practices in areas of need are provided intensive support to foster relationships with local sexual health clinics and build capacity to champion PrEP prescribing.

Reaching out with PrEP resources

Clinicians are supported with in-language resources for PrEP consultations.

Getting the word out

Raising awareness and understanding of PrEP through community-led, inclusive campaigns.

This project is being implemented throughout 2025 with completion expected in September.

Find out more

For more information, contact:

Rebekah Lamb

PrEP Project Manager at

Rebekah.lamb@ashm.org.au

For additional information, guidelines, resources and training, go to ashm.org.au